Course Description

Catalogue Description: Nature of abnormal behavior, theories and data regarding symptoms, etiology, treatment and prevention of mental disorders.

Additional faculty description:
Summary: The course presents an overview of psychological science’s approach to the study of psychopathology. The course surveys the range of diagnoses that guide research and treatment. Theory, research design and methods, case studies and assessment reveal the extent of expertise that guides work in clinical psychology. This work continues to generate discovery that advances both knowledge and the ability to help persons who suffer the pain of psychological disorders.
Course Objectives

By the end of the semester, students should be able to:

- Demonstrate mastery of the knowledge base in Abnormal Psychology including the major theories, thinkers, constructs, methods, and findings that incrementally advance the science of Abnormal Psychology.
- Access online databases and review the various research methods and data analysis techniques used in the field of Abnormal Psychology.
- Discuss the implications of findings generated by peer-reviewed research and suggest arguments, decisions, or solutions that set new directions in the field of abnormal psychology.
- Critically analyze the evidence base and techniques used to assess and diagnose disorders, psychotherapies, and other treatments developed in the field of Abnormal Psychology and relate these to specific categories of disorder included in the DSM-V.
- Examine the historical and contemporary impact of a scientific approach to psychology and ethical issues related to abnormal psychology and mental health including stigma, deinstitutionalization, dangerousness, and the revisions in the DSM-5.

Due Dates and Late Policy

Deadlines are based on Eastern Standard Time; if you are in a different time zone, please adjust your submittal times accordingly. The instructor reserves the right to change dates accordingly as the semester progresses. All changes will be communicated in an appropriate manner.

You may complete the work out of sequence. For example, some people address the Knowledge Base work in the exams first. Others choose to do the discussion boards or labs first. You can also complete the work during the week it is assigned. You are free to make your own schedule. However, for the sake of evaluation you should complete all of Modules One and Two by July 26 and all of the Modules should be done by August 08.

Feedback and Grades

I will make every effort to provide feedback and grades in 48 hours. To keep track of your performance in the course, refer to My Grades in HuskyCT.

Student Responsibilities and Resources

As a member of the University of Connecticut student community, you are held to certain standards and academic policies. In addition, there are numerous resources available to help you succeed in your academic work. This section provides a brief overview to important standards, policies and resources.

Student Code

You are responsible for acting in accordance with the University of Connecticut's Student Code Review and become familiar with these expectations. In particular, make sure you have read the section that applies to you on Academic Integrity:

- Academic Integrity in Undergraduate Education and Research
- Academic Integrity in Graduate Education and Research

Cheating and plagiarism are taken very seriously at the University of Connecticut. As a student, it is your responsibility to avoid plagiarism. If you need more information about the subject of plagiarism, use the following resources:

- Plagiarism: How to Recognize it and How to Avoid It
- Instructional Module about Plagiarism
Copyright

Copyrighted materials within the course are only for the use of students enrolled in the course for purposes associated with this course and may not be retained or further disseminated.

Netiquette and Communication

At all times, course communication with fellow students and the instructor are to be professional and courteous. It is expected that you proofread all your written communication, including discussion posts, assignment submissions, and mail messages. If you are new to online learning or need a netiquette refresher, please look at this guide titled, The Core Rules of Netiquette.

Adding or Dropping a Course

If you should decide to add or drop a course, there are official procedures to follow:

- Matriculated students should add or drop a course through the Student Administration System.
- Non-degree students should refer to Non-Degree Add/Drop Information located on the registrar's website.

You must officially drop a course to avoid receiving an "F" on your permanent transcript. Simply discontinuing class or informing the instructor you want to drop does not constitute an official drop of the course. For more information, refer to the:

- Undergraduate Catalog
- Graduate Catalog

Academic Calendar

The University's Academic Calendar contains important semester dates.

Academic Support Resources

Technology and Academic Help provides a guide to technical and academic assistance.

Students with Disabilities

Students needing special accommodations should work with the University's Center for Students with Disabilities (CSD). You may contact CSD by calling (860) 486-2020 or by emailing csd@uconn.edu. If your request for accommodation is approved, CSD will send an accommodation letter directly to your instructor(s) so that special arrangements can be made. (Note: Student requests for accommodation must be filed each semester.)

Blackboard measures and evaluates accessibility using two sets of standards: the WCAG 2.0 standards issued by the World Wide Web Consortium (W3C) and Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act issued in the United States federal government.” (Retrieved March 24, 2013 from http://www.blackboard.com/platforms/learn/resources/accessibility.aspx)
